transformational living...

1 Peter 2.4-12

- Christianity is a life lived in motion
- we are being built
- spiritual formation means becoming outwardly by transformation what we already are inwardly by declaration
- we must humble ourselves and submit to the process
- only we can shipwreck our own destiny
- we are all aliens and sojourners... people along the way... people of transition

a people of transition...

What if Jesus traded in His destiny for a comfortable life as a small business owner? (Matthew 13.55, Mark 6.3 – tekton)

a people of transition

tran·si·tion

tran'ziSH(ə)n

noun

the process or a period of changing from one state or condition to another.

moving forward (vs. shipwrecked or camping out)

- if we refuse transition – we refuse destiny (fountain street hill story)
- we must refuse to accept our present reality as our perpetual normal
- we must refuse to stay stuck

a people of transition...

Today's BIG IDEA...

Each of us was made with purpose. Not a single one of us was conceived without destiny. But, realizing the fullness of it means living a life of transformation, refusing to stay stuck. It means embracing transition. It means humbling ourselves and submitting to the process of change, allowing His grace to teach us how to become outwardly who He says we are inwardly.

Friends, let's embrace transition. Let's refuse to stay stuck. Let's run hard after God's best, to hell with comfort. I want what He wants. How about you?
